LET'S MASTER CHOPSTICKS

The best way to master chopsticks is to experiment.

Finding the way that's easiest for you.

First, think of them as tongs - one remains stationary, the other one moves; Second, keep the ends even.

1. Put one stick between your thumb and first finger. Brace it with your third and little finger (or your third and middle finger. Whichever is more comfortable). This is the stationary tong.

1. Relax... you've got leverage so very little pressure is needed.

2. Put the second stick in the crook of your index finger and grasp it with your finger and the tip of your thumb. This is the tong that moves.

4. An Oriental table setting includes a pair of chopsticks.
